Hubbard's Receipt.

Elbert Hubbard said at 38 he had never consulted a physician and never consulted a physician and never was sick an hour in his life. He thought a man ought to live five times the length of time he spends reaching maturity, which is 20 years. That would make us all 100 years old at death. His recipe for living a hundred years is this:

First—Deep breathing in the open air with your mouth closed.

Second—Moderation in eating; simple dishes; Fletcherizer; eat fruit every day, especially bananas.

Third—Exercise at least two hours in the open each day, walking, working in the garden, playing with the children.

Fourth—Sleep eight hours in a thoroughly ventilated room.

Fifth—Drink all the water between meals you care to.

Sixth—Don't bother to forget your friends; just forget them.

Seventh—Keep busy. It is a beautiful world and we must and will and can leave it more beautiful than we found it.
